

NESHAMINY SCHOOL DIST ENTERS INTO AN AGREEMENT WITH ROHM & HAAS CO. TO BUY 212 ACRES, KNOWN AS THE DEVLIN ESTATE, AS SITE FOR JR.-SR. HIGH SCHOOL

Along Old Lincoln Highway Between Parkland-Langhorne Terrace

COST UNDER $60,000

Purchase Completes More Than Year of Effort To Acquire Site

Special to The Courier

LANGHORNE, Feb. 15 —

The site for the proposed new junior-senior high school has been definitely decided upon, according to an announcement made by the board of directors of the Neshaminy school district. An agreement has been signed with the Rohm & Haas Co., whereby the company will sell to the district 212 acres of land at a cost of less than $60,000. The site purchased is known locally as the "Devlin Estate" and is situated along the old Lincoln highway between Langhorne Terrace and Parkland. The purchase of the site was decided upon at a special meeting of the school board Monday evening.

It had previously been decided to purchase acreage from the property of the Jesse W. Soby Post, American Legion, here, on what is known as the Bucks County Country Club tract.

The purchase of the Rohm and Haas tract completes more than a year of tedious effort on the part of the school board to acquire a site that would provide maximum school facilities at a minimum outlay to the taxpayer. At first attempts were made to procure a junior-senior high school site with the plan of finding elementary school acreage later. "Efforts to buy land from Woods Schools, Inc., and the Jesse W. Soby Post failed because of unsatisfactory negotiations. The present transaction came as a timely and fortunate solution to the problem complicated almost monthly by the industrial expansion of the entire area," it is stated.

Neshaminy's application for construction of a $1,500,000 junior-senior high school has been approved by the state, insofar as

Musicians from Forty Schools to Give Concert

High school band musicians from over 40 Philadelphia and suburban schools will combine to present a concert of band music at Irvine auditorium, 34th and Spruce streets, Philadelphia, on Saturday evening at eight. Known as the Southeastern District Festival Band, this group, jointly sponsored by the music education department of the University and the Pennsylvania Music Educators Association, Philadelphia, comprises 140 school-age musicians selected on a competitive basis from schools in a five-county area. Nine such festivals are being held within the State, the better players from each journeying to Harrisburg next month to form an All-State band.

The group will be welcomed to the University by Dr. Jesse L. Scott, head of the music education department and the response will be made by Robert M. Holm, president of the Music Educators Association. Guest conductor will be Harvey Wilson, of the University. Admission will be without tickets, and all interested parents and friends are invited to attend.

ECONOMY WITHOUT PAIN

Taxes, far from painless now, are going to be increased until it really hurts. After that is done, President Truman has announced, he intends to call for still another increase — the third in less than a year.

There is plenty of economy talk in Congress, suggesting that the pain of the third raise can be avoided if non-essential expenditures of government are cut. Senator Byrd is convinced as much as $9,000,000,000 can be saved that way.

But will it be? The record shows that after Congressmen get through logrolling to get their pet projects included in appropriation bills, large-scale economy tends to become a casualty.

Former President Herbert Hoover recently discussed economy, and he said a mouthful. In a letter to Senator Lodge, he estimated that more than $5,000,000,000 a year might be saved if Congress adopted all the suggestions of the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government, better known as the Hoover Commission. It would be hard to think of a time, certainly, when savings would be more welcome.

Mr. Hoover says that less than 50 per cent of the Hoover Commission's recommendations have been adopted so far. Other measures he urges would help attract better administrators and specialists — potentially a source of big savings. Efficiency reforms are urgently needed, he points out, in such fields as water resources development, public works, veterans' administration, federal medical programs, the Department of Agriculture, and the politics-ridden Post Office Department.

All these proposals have encountered considerable opposition by interested parties. That is why they haven't been adopted. But the taxpayer, with one bite just taken out of his hide and two more in prospect, is an interested party, too. If he knows what's good for him, he'll make his voice heard.

NOT ENOUGH LETTERS

It had to happen sooner or later. New alphabetical agencies are springing up in Washington so thick and fast they are stumbling over their own letters.

Two agencies turned up the other day with the same initials, DPB. One had to change its name from Defense Power Administration to Defense Electric Power Administration to keep from getting mixed up with the DPB which stands for Defense Production Administration.

If this keeps up, the Truman administration may be forced to take up the suggestion of the late George Bernard Shaw that a new alphabet with more letters in it be adopted. The Russian alphabet, incidentally, has some extra ones to spare and they couldn't be more confusing to the populace than what is already happening in Washington.

Morrisville Burgess Thinks That Business Community of That Borough is Inadequate business development program is undertaken.

If a development is eminent, certain industries and residential areas that are built near the borough limits may be able to take advantage of two planned utility projects in Morrisville:

(1) A much needed expansion of present water supply system, which has already been approved by borough council, and is ready for bidding by contractors.

(2) A sewer system (which Morrisville has never had) and a three-stage sewer disposal plant. This has been given the approval of the State Health Department, and will shortly be open for bidding.

Mr. William H. Howell, of 601 Crown street, secretary of the Council of the Borough of Morrisville, said: "Morrisville has needed these utility developments for a long time. Under the present set-up, we would not be able to extend additional privileges to any industry that moved into the area."

Although the Fairless plant will have its own water supply, Mr. Howell believes that other industries which may follow, will want to take advantage of the new water system when it is completed.

According to Mr. Burgess and Mr. Howell, the borough is now filled to capacity as far as housing development is concerned. There is no land available within the borough limits large enough to permit a housing project of any sort. The only ground available is a few small lots here and there.

Mr. Howell hinted that housing projects could be developed just outside the borough limits, if a person acting in the capacity of a "developer" could purchase two large farms adjacent to the west boundary of the borough and north of the Lincoln Highway in Falls Township. The two farms in mind are the Jane Moon Snipes farm (the original Morrisville nursery) and the Dominick Kay farm just to the north of the Snipes farm. The combined acreage is estimated at 300 acres.

A planning commission was established about five months ago by state permit, to plan any civic improvements they considered necessary, which would then be subject to the approval of the borough Council. The Commission, consisting of Morrisville citizens not active in the borough government, has been considering future annexation of the "Snipes and Kay" farms, but the owners up to now have declined to consider selling.

The members of the Planning Commission are: Robert J. Bailey, 513 Hillcrest ave., L. E. Andrews, 205 E. Maple ave.; Joseph G. Rech, 3 E. Philadelphia ave.; Paul J. Taylor, 319 W. Bridge st.; and Dr. Theodore R. Cohen, 303 Washington st., all of Morrisville.

Mr. Thomas B. Stockham, a prominent realtor, holds the opinion that the prices certain farmers are asking for their property are entirely too high, and they are "doing a lot to discourage any future development which Morrisville sorely needs."

"By making prices so high, these people are in the long run robbing their own pockets, with regard to higher taxes and assessments on the property."

Mr. Stockham estimated the current price of farmland for dairy purposes at $150 to $200 an acre, for truck farming at $300 to $350 an acre. For industrial development, Mr. Stockham said that "a fair price would be around $700 to $800 an acre, and in some extreme cases around $900 to $1000. Certainly no more than that."

Mr. Stockham said, "one of the biggest troubles is that speculative buyers are coming into Morrisville from as far away as Philadelphia, and are sewing things up tight here."

"They are buying every house they can that is for sale, and holding them until the potential labor supply for the new steel plant starts to flow into the area. Then they will charge outlandish prices, which will cause bad feelings between the newcomers and the old residents of Morrisville."

financial responsibility of the joint district is concerned, it is stated.

The expansive acreage provides not only for the junior-senior high school building planned at present, but allows ample space for the development of an elementary school, an athletic field, playground facilities, swimming pool, and practically all the school needs anticipated with the increase of population in this area. The school architects, Berninger, Haag and d'Entremont, found the contour of the land admirably suited for school purposes and its location lies within the center of population determined by the survey made by the Pennsylvania Economy League.

"Officials of Rohm & Haas Co., sympathetic to the difficulties confronting the Neshaminy school district in search of adequate ground, offered the land to the school board at purchase price before putting it up for competitive market sale," it is stated. "The average cost per acre of $286 is testimony of the generosity of Rohm & Haas Co., and is another instance of their benefaction to public education in Lower Bucks County."

self from any further office and announced, with regret, that because Mr. Vandeventer was moving out of the community he would also be unavailable.

The lucky name tag winner was then picked and presented with a $5 merchandise prize. Miss Georgianna Staehle told of the visit of a number of boys from the high school to the General Motors Corp. plant in Trenton, N. J., as arranged by Mr. Vandeventer, and how instructive they had found it. Mr. Vandeventer spoke briefly of the reactions of various GM executives to the boys, saying they had "found the group one of the best-looking and best-mannered that had visited the plant."

Open house was then held, following which refreshments were served in the cafeteria. The meeting was one of the best attended of the year.

Manufacture of Art Pottery is Under Way

and an original design of "Pennsbury Manor" in relief, is bringing joy to many who possess the pieces. Hand-painted, it makes a fine souvenir of Penn's restored home. The finished products in this particular line (plates in two sizes, cigarette boxes in two styles, and ash trays) depict the manor house, bake and brew house, smoke house, the home of the superintendent, and the formal gardens.

The structure which houses Pennsbury Pottery boasts of over 5,000 square feet of floor space. Built last summer, manufacturing got underway in October, and the salesroom opened at the Christmas season.

"We manufacture a high grade of art pottery which is sold in the best stores across the nation," said Mr. Below as he glanced around him at his own line of hand-decorated birds, pitchers, ash trays, cigarette boxes, and hand-painted china clocks. In addition, the firm manufactures under contract thousands of novelty decorations for the home.

Alongside the large windows several young women are busily engaged each day, touching their brushes to the color trays, and transferring the reds, yellows, blues, lavenders, greens and other hues to the pottery pieces. A skilled decorator can handle only two of the large and colorful roosters a day, as true art work is stressed rather than speed. A woodcock, 10 inches high, requires about three hours time to paint; and the same period is needed to make a bird-of-paradise a thing of beauty. Then comes the firing, the cycle for such being 24 hours. Two kilns, designed by Mr. Below, are in the plant.

At present there are 21 employees—casters, finishers and decorators, and within a month the number is expected to jump to 35. Just prior to the rush season at Christmas there were nine young women engaged in the decorating process alone.

One of the newer lines, in process of perfecting, is that of a hanging pottery basket, with a mother bird and her fledglings perched on the side.

"We're all one big family here. We punch no time clocks" commented Below. "I trained the decorators myself, but of course some had previously done some form of art work, or had a natural flare along that line."

It is believed that this is the only company for several miles around in Pennsylvania which manufactures art pottery.

Designs used are either by Mrs. Below or August Jacob.

nation, already heavily encumbered by the debts saddled on it by the New Dealers, simply does not have the wherewithal to maintain an army of 100 divisions, which is substantially what would be involved if the defense of Europe and similar zones, by ground troops, is to be made a primary American responsibility. At current prices, Senator Martin estimates that 100 divisions would cost sixty billion dollars a year to keep in the field. This would crush us two ways—first, the debt would force us into national bankruptcy—just what Stalin wants. And second, such an army would strip our defense industry of a crippling number of workers, robbing us and our allies of the defense material necessary to win.

The Senator's second reason is that a better alternative exists. That is for the other Atlantic Pact nations to furnish the foot soldiers, while we serve as the Allies' arsenal and at the same time build our air and sea power to the maximum.

He called for the world's most powerful air and sea forces, with a relatively small, mobile ground force backed up by a reserve trained under a program of universal military training.

From here, that looks like about as clean-cut and acceptable a program of national defense as has yet been produced.

Planning Commission Schedules A Session

MORRISVILLE, Feb. 15 — The Morrisville Planning Commission has scheduled a meeting in the borough hall for eight o'clock tomorrow evening.

Chairman Robert Bailey announces that representatives of various organizations have been meeting with the commission, expressing their opinions on what should be planned or developed within the next few years.

On Friday, Superintendent of Schools Manohar R. Reiter, High School Principal E. Leonard Cahn and representatives of the Morrisville Woman's Club will attend and express their views to the commission. Other commission members are Leon Andrews, secretary; Dr. Theodore R. Cohen, Joseph Rech and Paul J. Taylor.

Drunken Drivers Appear Before The Grand Jury

man, a justice-of-the-peace, the director of public relations of the Bristol plant employing him.

Joseph Elliott, 27, of Bristol township, pleaded guilty before Judge Keller to driving while drunk in Bristol, on Dec. 15, about 8:40 p. m. He was fined $200 and costs. Elliott did not have a driver's license at the time of his arrest, for his license had been suspended for two months on a reckless driving charge. Elliott is employed in a Morrisville plant, and was arrested by Patrolman William Chance, of the Bristol police.

"I had too much to drink; possibly ten or eleven beers," Elliott told Judge Keller.

Thomas V. Meyers, of 2018 State road, Croydon, was before Judge Keller on a surety of the peace charge lodged by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Betty Weller, 37, of Orchard ave., Croydon, who told the court that she was afraid of Meyers because he had threatened to kill her on July 18, last year, at the home of Mrs. Ethel Gross. The court placed Meyers under $500 bond to keep the peace especially in respect to Mrs. Weller, his wife and the community in general.

The court was informed that Meyers has been arrested six times, dating back to 1936 when he was acquitted on a charge of assault and battery with intent to ravish.

Judge Keller suggested that a further investigation be made in his case, since the court received an anonymous telegram signed "The Committee" and asking that something be done about Meyers or the people of Bristol would ask for an investigation.

William B. Homer, of Yardley, pleaded guilty before Judge Keller to driving while drunk on Jan. 13 this year in Lower Makefield township, near Yardley. He was fined $200 and costs. Homer told the court that he had imbibed in four Manhattan in a Trenton cocktail bar before the accident and that he was arrested just three blocks from his home by the Yardley police chief, Homer is a salesman.

Motions for separate trials in the cases of three defendants charged with the murder of David Sklar, Croydon super-market manager last May, will be granted by Judges Hiram H. Keller and Edward G. Blester.

The three defendants are Martin Joseph Pearson, who will be tried first—the trial starting Monday, Feb. 26—Harry Walter Chapasco and Walter John Lowry who will be tried later.

The matter was before the court Tuesday when attorneys for Pearson and Chapasco also filed petitions in behalf of their clients asking that copies of an alleged 26-page typewritten confession made by Pearson for the District Attorney's Office, be furnished them.

The court set this afternoon for argument on the petitions asking for copies of the confession, the hearing to be held at two o'clock. The petitioning attorneys for Pearson and Chapasco contend among other things that the confession from Pearson was made in the absence of any attorney for Pearson, thus entitling the attorneys now representing Pearson and Chapasco, to copies.

W. Paul Frankfield, 41, of Souderton RD., a foreman for the State Highway Department, was fined $200 and costs by Judge Keller, after pleading guilty to driving while drunk on Dec. 23, on the Bethlehem Pike at the Souderton rd. intersection.

Frankfield was arrested by Trooper Marion, of the Quakertown sub-station, after his car had collided with a car operated by Raymond B. Kemp, of 606 Mt. Vernon st., Lansdale. The defendant paid damages to the extent of $59 to repair Kemp's car, the latter testified.

Frankfield, who bore a good reputation, and was known to the court, said that he seldom ever drinks, but that on this occasion he was attending a Christmas party with some friends and drank some mixed drinks.

During the testimony in this case,

Judge Keller warned police that if they do not comply with the customary procedure of police taking cases to the nearest justice-of-the-peace, that the court will take the matter up with the State Department.

Governor Fine's Wife To Have Third Operation

HARRISBURG, Feb. 15 — Mrs. Helene Morgan Fine, wife of Pennsylvania's Governor, will undergo a third operation this morning for a head ailment, the Governor's office reported.

Mrs. Fine's condition has been diagnosed by University of Pennsylvania Hospital authorities at Philadelphia as an intra-cranial lesion or possible hemorrhage in the cranium possibly caused by an injury, according to Duncan C. MacCallum, the Governor's executive secretary.

MacCallum said Mrs. Fine suffered a fall during the gubernatorial election campaign last autumn.

MacCallum said Mrs. Fine will undergo surgery before noon. "Doctors performed a lumbar spinal puncture this morning after having performed an exploratory operation around three o'clock."

Survey To Be Made of School Site Boundary

TULLYTOWN, Feb. 15 — Plans were discussed for a survey to be made of the boundary of the entire school property, during a meeting of the Home and School League held Tuesday evening in the school with 17 attending.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Ralph Hart presided. Mrs. Earl Johnson and Mrs. Nicholas Eberle were appointed chairmen of a card party to be held March 3rd.

A sum of $14 was realized the past month as a result of the "exchange basket."

Tentative plans were made for a spaghetti supper with the following to be in charge: Mrs. Alfred Lee-dom, Mrs. Nicholas Eberle, Mrs. Patrick Coia, Mrs. Andrew Schaefer, Mrs. Edward Kaiser, Mrs. Stanley Carlen, Mrs. Earl Johnson, Mrs. Ralph Hart, Mrs. James G. Lardi, and Mrs. Lewis Green.

The attendance banner was awarded to Miss Elsie Ettenger's 3rd and 4th grade room.

Mrs. Earl Johnson and Mrs. August Gross will serve as refreshment committee for the March meeting, at which time there will be a "talent show" given by the pupils of the school.

The committee appointed to secure information concerning a fence to be erected around the property, told that a survey will have to be made to ascertain the boundary of the property before a fence can be erected.

Decide To Sell Eddington School

Chief of Cornwells Fire Co. Chief Ervin had presented seven recommendations, all of which have been complied with.

Decision was made to repair the cyclone fence at Andalusia school which had been torn down when a tree fell during the November storm.

A survey made by an engineer of some lots near Treves school was reviewed. The board is considering purchase of these lots.

Members were informed that six radio-phonographs at Treves school had been repaired and placed in service again.

The directors were told that the high school staff is working on the general problems of curriculum revision, this being a state-wide project.

The report of superintendent of schools, William Shellenberger, showed a large teacher absentee list in January, due to illness.

The superintendent reported that his request to the U. S. Army Department for deferment of a reserve officer, John Slavin, had been granted, and that Mr. Slavin will be able to complete his teaching duties for the term.

The board employed John Bolley as janitor at Cornwells Heights building.

Have Guests of Honor At A Police Banquet

With several guests of honor in attendance, approximately 30 police officers thoroughly enjoyed a turkey banquet last evening in the station of America Hose, Hook & Ladder Co., No. 2. The affair was planned by Bucks County Lodge, No. 53, Fraternal Order of Police, which lodge also conducted installation of officers for 1951.

The banquet committee comprised Officers Joseph Seader, Donald Morris, William Chance and Henry Spinelli. Two new members were welcomed, namely Charles W. Grey, Jr., of Warminster township police department; and Cyrus L. Tomlinson, of Doylestown police department.

The guests of honor were: Burgess I. Johnston, Hetherington; Paul J. Barrett, Esq., Justice of the Peace; Anthony Nicol, all of Bristol; and Officer Deatz, of Burlington department. There were also associate members present.

The table was horseshoe shaped, with decorations in Valentine style.

There were brief speeches on co-operation among the various police departments in the county. Burgess Hetherington stressed the point regarding advancement of police as a whole. Each officer then spoke of his particular work in the lodge and mentioned what he has gained through association with other police in the unit.

Preparations for the meal were in charge of John P. Coffman and his assistants. President Bateman cut the three-layer cake; then the group witnessed fight pictures by means of television.

It is stated that Bucks Lodge has increased considerably in membership during the past four years. Herman Esterline is recording secretary.

Patriotic Program Is Arranged for Club Women

A patriotic program has been arranged for members of the Travel Club by the Citizenship chairman, Mrs. Clyde S. Betts, Sr. The meeting will convene at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the club home.

In addition to writing the book, Mrs. Hutton has served as a member of the Washington Crossing Park Commission of Bucks County for the past 12 years. Tea will be poured by the hostesses of the afternoon, Mrs. Serrell Douglass and Miss Nora Jones.

5TH WARD WILL MEET CORNWELLS, TONIGHT'S OPENER

The two games of the Bristol Basketball League will be played on the Edgely Fire Company court this evening. In the opening contest, Fifth Ward will meet the Cornwells Boys Club while in the nightcap, Lucisano meets Franklin. First game will get under way at 7.30 o'clock.

"Bill" Wallick, Howard Keys, Stan Lelinski, Toby Ortol, and Tony Palumbo will start for Franklin with Roy Lynch, Dick Anderson, Mickey Stradling, Gene Lynch, and Joe Brelsford starting for Lucisano. It will be the final games of the regular season to be played on the Edgely Fire Company floor.

JUNIOR HIGH CLINCHES CROWN IN LOWER BUCKS

Coach Ben Watson's boys had a little more trouble than anticipated by the Delhaas contingent. It took some mighty good shooting on the part of Dick Crosby to give Bristol its 24-16 half-time lead. Crosby scored 11 points in the second quarter.

Delhaas had a poor last period, one point being scored when Hustan converted a foul.

Crosby, Loud and Asta had 28 points for Bristol, while Gallagher and Hustan accounted for 15 Delhaas points.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

By FULTON LEWIS, JR.

(Copyright, 1950
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15—Chiang Kai-Shek has had a wily crew of Chinese counter-intelligence agents on his payroll for a number of years now whose principal assignment was keeping track of State Department officials and other Americans who traveled to China to hold hands with Communists there.

Senator Pat McCarran, Nevada Democrat, who is setting up a staff designed once and for all to wring out the Reds on the Federal payroll, might be able to borrow some of Chiang's files. The State Department probably would again cut off military aid to Chiang if McCarran did get access to the files, but it might be worth it in the long run.

For instance, one document in a strong box on Formosa, where Chiang is holed in with a 400,000-man army, is particularly interesting in the light of a lot of testimony by certain State Department officials regarding their activities in China.

John Stewart Service, one of the State Department diplomats arrested by the FBI in the Amerasia case, but later released; Philip Jaffe, convicted of possessing top secret State Department files, and a number of others who figured in the Tydings whitewash investigation of Reds in the Government received considerable attention from Chiang's footpads.

A copy of the document is already in Senatorial hands. It makes interesting reading. For instance, it relates how an intelligence agent in a U. S. Embassy in China kept peddling secrets to the Communists for transmittal to Vassili M. Zubelin, chief secretary of the Soviet Embassy in Washington.

Other details in the report, which lists the license number of automobiles used by Americans on inland trips in China to confer with the Communists, disclose the activities of Communist women and their American boy friends.

The report, translated from Chinese into English several days ago by experts in the Library of Congress, gives particular attention to one feminine operative.

This Matt Hari wandered from bar to bed all over China, concentrating on Americans who looked like soft touches for the Communists. Some were not so hard to persuade.

This woman is the present wife of a Chinese Communist who was in the U. S. not long ago as a member of the nine-man Communist cease-fire delegation from Peiping to the United Nations. Mama stayed home. She was busy.

The loyal Chinese intelligence agents on Chiang's payroll describe her in words of oriental understatement, thus:

"Using her title as a newspaper correspondent, along with others, she frequently ran about among the personnel of the various Embassies in China, the American News Office, and the correspondents of various nations in order to ferret out information, even sacrificing without compunction womanly qualities in order to accomplish the mission. A particular objective of hers was Until such time as the document is made part of an official record the names will not be printed here.

One or two State Department officials at the Tydings fiasco admitted knowing the woman, one even admitted being on friendlier terms with her husband.

The Nationalist Chinese intelligence report, one of several dozen in and around Washington, doesn't overlook Owen Lattimore. This Baltimore sage got a daily workout from Senator Joseph R. McCarthy for his part in the China blunder. He is slated for another go-around before the McCarran subcommittee, principally about two of his acquaintances in China, Chiao Mu and Kung Peng, two characters who never got near a Chinese laundry but who know all about the Moscow part in the betrayal of China.

Lattimore was in on the ground floor of the sellout, but it is hard to locate any large cries of alarms he ever uttered about the danger of Communists seizing power in China. He was the late President Roosevelt's political adviser on China, in 1941, but didn't stay in China long. Chiang Kai-Shek couldn't stand him, and told Roosevelt so. As a reward, Lattimore was made head of the Pacific Office of War Information. In 1944 he traveled to China with Henry Wallace. While there he was busy visiting his old pals. The Chinese intelligence report goes into detail about the visits, but I shall go into that another day.

The State Department and its China "experts" have spent many a day kicking Chiang Kai-Shek around. It wouldn't be surprising if Chiang stepped up now for a little revenge. The sweetest way to get it is to dump some of his secret file data about our Government officials who wandered around China playing cozy with the Communists. Senator McCarran has a big basket handy.

2ND WILL WRITTEN ADMITTED TO PROBATE

Was in Pocket of Man
When he Shot himself
In Automobile

CAVEAT WAS FILED

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 15—Register of Wills, Eugene T. Rosenberg, had to decide which of two wills to probate in the estate of Ray Weber, Richboro hotelman, following the filing of a caveat by his daughter Charlotte Ray Weber Brown.

In a hearing held before Register of Wills Rosenberg the will, which was in the pocket of Weber when he shot himself in his car September 16, 1950, was admitted for probate.

A previous will, dated January 4, 1947, which was produced by his daughter, Charlotte Ray Weber, and named her the sole beneficiary and residuary heir, was not probated.

Two witnesses, Mary E. Madison, Newtown stenographer, and Carl Anderson, both of whom witnessed the testator's will shortly before he ended his life, testified he was apparently in good health and sound mind.

His daughter, who opposed the second will on the grounds that her father was not mentally sound, because he ended his life a short time after making his will, had her caveat ignored and the will which was made the same day he died was accepted.

In the first will, dated Jan. 4, 1947, the testator, who gave his address as Richboro, named his daughter the sole heir.

In the second, and later will, dated Sept. 16, 1950, the testator, who gave Northampton township as his address, bequeathed his "faithful helper," Mrs. Kathryn M. Getz, a double frame house on Almshouse road.

He bequeathed the hotel, "Spread Eagle Inn," to his daughter, Charlotte Ray Weber Brown, and also to Mrs. Kathryn M. Getz.

William R. Stuckert, of Newtown, veteran member of the Bucks County Bar, was bequeathed $2,000.

Mrs. Kathryn M. Getz and the daughter, Charlotte R. W. Brown, were named residuary beneficiaries. The personal estate was valued at $1,000 and real estate at $25,000. Real estate consists of "Spread Eagle Inn" and three acres, a vacant lot on the Second Street Pike and a tract adjacent to the hotel, all in Northampton twp., and a house and lot on North Broad street in Philadelphia.

STEEL INDUSTRY IN AREA IS "COME-BACK"

History Repeating Itself in The Delaware River Valley

BUT ON BIGGER SCALE

The steel industry which is soon to come to lower Bucks County and southern New Jersey will not be the first to locate in this area. History is merely repeating itself, but on a far bigger scale, it is claimed. The Delaware River region is making a big comeback to steel-making prominence, this time, when United States Steel Corporation commences erection of a huge plant in Falls Township, along the Delaware river.

This section of eastern Pennsylvania where the U. S. Steel Corp. will locate its Fairless Works, was the state's principal area of iron manufacture prior to 1800. Then iron and steel manufacture began a migration west of the Susquehanna river, and the eastern part of the state lost its iron prominence. Southern New Jersey, where National Steel will place its large new mill, had an iron industry as early as 1730. Trenton had one small furnace for the manufacture of steel during the Revolutionary War and was the site of the first open hearth furnace in the United States for the manufacture of steel in 1868, according to the American Iron and Steel Institute.

The iron industry of Eastern Pennsylvania had its beginning in 1716 when Thomas Rutter built a bloomery in Berks County. Eleven years later the Durham furnace was built on a site about 35 miles northwest of United States Steel's property near Morrisville. The Durham furnace helped supply Continental troops during the Revolution. Durham boats, which carried iron to Philadelphia, were used by George Washington to carry troops across the Delaware in the capture of Trenton, the Institute reports. For the most part, Pennsylvania's iron works in the 1700's were located within a 40 mile radius of Philadelphia, their only major market. There were also two small furnaces in that city for converting iron into steel.

The places which United States Steel and National Steel have chosen for their new plants along the Delaware River are now devoted to agriculture, but the coming of the mills will cause a shift from agriculture to industry in the region. The two new mills will be capable of turning some 3,000,000 tons of steel ingots annually.
